RENSHAW WINS IN HIGHER COURT

David Smith Appears to Have Lost the Sheriff's Office.

ALL ON A TECHNICALITY.

May be a Chance to Try the Case Out on its Merits—Opinion Not Received.

Mr. John M. Renshaw received a telegram Saturday night telling him that he had won the case appealed to the Court of Appeals, and would be sheriff of Christian county. The telegram read:

"Injunction dissolved, Barker writing opinion and Lassing, Carroll and O'Rear concurring."

County Judge Prowse issued an order March 11, removing David Smith, Democrat, because the latter had not renewed his bond by March 1, as required by law and appointed Mr. Renshaw.

When the case was tried here, Judge Cook decided in favor of Sheriff Smith and the case was at once appealed. Mr. Smith was elected in 1905, and was the first Democrat to be elected since 1893. He is one of the most prominent citizens of the county, and his removal is due entirely to his oversight in not renewing his bond as required. Mr. Renshaw is a man of high standing.

It is said that the motion to dissolve the injunction was not filed within 20 days and that Smith will retain the office until the case is tried out on its merits, unless the opinion passes upon the merits of the case and declares the office forfeited. This is the view taken by Mr. Smith's attorneys. If the decision is final, it will take about ten days to make a legal transfer of the office.

DEATH OF MISS MEDLEY.

Great Sufferer for a Long Time.

Miss Virginia C. Medley died near Beverly Friday night, after a long illness of stomach trouble. She was 59 years of age and a member of the Episcopal church. She is survived by three brothers, Dr. G. E. Medley, Charles Medley and James Medley, and one sister, Mrs. Sallie Dennis. Funeral services were held at Grace church Sunday afternoon and the body was laid to rest in Riverside Cemetery.

BIG BUNCH IS ROUNDED UP.

Thirty-three Alleged Night Riders and Fifty-two True Bills.

ESQ. JONES INCLUDED.

Calloway Grand Jury Still Hard at It—One Witness is Missing.

Murray, Ky., April 20.—The grand jury which is investigating the night riders' raids, returned thirty-one more indictments Saturday against men charged with participation in raids in Calloway county. This makes a total of fifty-two indictments which have been returned and more are to follow. Several of the men are indicted two or more times. More arrests were made by the sheriff and the soldiers, and County Judge Wells has twenty new warrants ready to be served to-day. The people of the county are now backing Judge Wells and are ready for the threatened raid on the jail to release the prisoners.

The names of those indicted today, who are in jail or out on bond, are: Josh Cunningham (two counts), Turner McCage, Tom McCuiston, Billy Williams, Hardin Lovett, L. Jones, Bob Duncan, Dallas Winn, Felix Winn, Ed Thompson, Van Elkins (two counts).

Those indicted Thursday were:

Joe Bell, alleged Captain.

Josh Cunningham.

Jake Ellis.

Van Elkins.

Hardin Lovett (two bills).

Darwin Miller.

Jack Elkins.

Ed Thompson.

Elmus Williams.

Nine more alleged night riders were arrested Saturday. Their names are: Squire Tom Jones, Curnias Bogard, Imper Parrish, Calvin Berry, Dick Berry, Chester Burken, Ciel Burken and Daniel Ellis.

All of the men arrested to-day are from the eastern part of the county and have been indicted by the grand jury. Jones, Bogard, Chester and Ciel Burken were placed under $1,500 bonds. Others being unable to make bond were placed in jail. Squire Tom Jones is at present a member of the Fiscal Court.

The grand jury has not completed its work against the night riders at all. The evidence against men in the eastern part of the county has not been exhausted, and the evidence against the suspected men around Kirksey, in the Western part of the county, has not been touched. Murray Harris, the missing important witness against the Kirksey crowd, has not yet been located.

Rumor has different stories about his leaving. One is that he fears personal violence at the hands of the men charged with night riding. Another is that the suspected men have bribed him to go. Most people, however, think fear of personal violence caused him to depart. It is believed that he will yet be located. If he should not be, it is believed that sufficient evidence will be secured to indict.

Thirty-eight arrests have been made to date. Joe Bell found another bondsman and again is a free man. The cases set for April 27 were changed to the 25 by common consent of counsel for both sides.

Will Ross, one of the men indicted for alleged night riding has departed. Ross was chopping wood when he stuck his ax in a piece of wood and remarked to his companion: "Things are getting too hot for me; I am gone." He crossed the Tennessee river.

Eight in Livingston.

Eight indictments were returned in Livingston county against Dr. Will Champlin, of Lyon county,

MODERN INDIAN.

Oklahoma Will Prohibit Use of Sign for Cigar Stores.

Chicago, April 17.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Guthrie, Okla., says, Senator Landrum, a Cherokee Indian, introduced a bill prohibiting the use of figures as cigar or tobacco signs.

The bill is certain to pass both branches of the legislature and become a law, as all political parties consider the large Indian vote to hold the balance of power. The bill provides a fine of $50 and six months' imprisonment for any person who uses an Indian figure, no matter for what purpose, or who has such a figure in his possession.

Coffee in France.

Dr. Fernet, an eminent French physician, is quoted by the British Medical Journal as an authority for the statement that the use of coffee has increased in France to such an extent that it is now common for the people of that country to drink a quart or more of a decoction of coffee daily. The habit is especially common among laboring women, great numbers of whom are received at the hospitals for treatment for disorders solely attributable to it.

Words Men of Science Use.

In the columns of the London Times a dispute continues to be waged stoutly in regard to the language commonly used by men of science. The chief point insisted upon is that there is not a word as true so abstract that it cannot be expressed in plain and clear English. The man of science who takes refuge in technical terms, such as zygotes and gametes, sporozoites and gametocytes, is, the correspondents allege, really confessing to a lack of education.

Mr. Wm. H. Anderson, M. D., of Soda Springs, Ida., says that Bees Laxative Cough Syrup has relieved coughs and colds where all other remedies failed. ## Effect of the Big Guns.

Considerable damage has been done at Dover, England, by the firing of the heavy guns from the forts which have been erected to protect the national harbor. The town criss was sent around the town to advise the inhabitants to leave their windows open, but upon the firing of the nine inch guns the vibration was so great that in many cases portions of the ceiling fell, many ornaments were knocked down and broken and windows were cracked.

He arose, went to the jail and caught five of the prisoners sawing the hinges of the big outer door with a steel saw. They would have escaped in a few minutes more.

At Winchester, Tenn., Rev. B. H. Fulkerson, who eloped with Miss Ada Templeton and was captured at Riverside, Cal., having deserted his wife, is held on a $10,000 bond, charged with bigamy. His defense will probably be that he never married the betrayed girl.

WAS DELIRIOUS WITH ECZEMA

On Chest, Back, and Head—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Nerves in Exhausted Condition—Sleep Badly Broken.

CURE BY CUTICURA SEEMED LIKE MAGIC

"Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for what Cuticura Remedies have done for my daughter, Adelaide. She is fifteen years of age, and had never had anything the matter with her skin until four months ago, when an eruption broke out on her chest. The first symptom was a redness, and then followed thickening and blisters, which would break and run matter. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of a very bad form. He treated her, but instead of bettering the case, the disease spread. It showed itself on her back and arms, and she was in great pain. What with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. She became run down in health, and at times was very feverish, languid, and drowsy, and occasionally she was delirious. Her nerves were in such a low state that she could not bear to be left alone. In spite of the cold weather she would insist on having her bedroom window open, and would lean out on the window-sill. She did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights. The second doctor we tried afforded her but a little relief as the first, and I really do not know what we should have done if we had not read her Cuticura cured a similar case. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Cream, and before the Ointment was three-quarters finished every trace of the disease was gone. It really seemed like magic. Her hair is coming on nicely, and I find it increases the growth wonderfully. Mrs. I. W. Hyde, 1, Ongar Place, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907."

BIG BUNCH IS ROUNDED UP.

charging him with sending threatening letters, in connection with the night riders. Champion has been indicted in Marshall county as a leader of the riders.

In Fayette County.

Night riders in Fayette county threatened to burn every barn on the farm owned by two lone women, only a short distance from Lexington, and as a consequence of the warning letter the owners have abandoned their plan to grow tobacco this year.

Mayor J. T. Earl, of Latonia, has received a letter signed "Night Riders," warning him to leave town by next Wednesday or his house will be burned. He recently began prosecution of the gamblers in Latonia and it is thought this was the reason for the warning note.

In Kenton.

Farmers who have been raising tobacco in Campbell county are worried over warnings from night riders.

One of the messages was received by Joseph Kenney, residing near Menter. Three representatives of the night riders called on James Bass, a farmer of Spring Lake, Ky., shortly after midnight and warned him to cease growing tobacco or he would be sorry. Spring Lake is about seven miles from Covington. It is stated that Bass' tobacco beds are the only ones now left in Kenton county, owing to the fear of the night riders.

READY FOR RAIDERS

Citizens Formed Into Companies and Heavily Armed.

New Castle, Ky., April 17.—With in the past few days companies of men have been armed in several precincts of Henry county. Each company has a captain and lieutenants, and is well armed. A considerable portion of the guns were furnished by the State, upon applications induced by Judge B. F. Hill. The alleged object of these companies is to defend the persons and property of the members against night riders. The following precincts have been organized: Lockport, Defoe, Franklinton, Pleasureville, Echo Dell, Port Royal and Turner's Station, while others are being organized. It seems a safe prediction to say that from 25 to 35 per cent. of a tobacco crop will be grown in Henry county. And, notwithstanding the war-like movements of some of the people, it is believed by everyone that the peace will not be broken.

SWITCHES LEFT.

First Outrage Reported in This County for Two Months.

After a period of inactivity covering two months, night riders Saturday night visited the home of Robt. M. Bronaugh, near Casky, and left two bundles of switches on his back porch. Attached to one was a note telling Mr. Bronaugh not to drive another nail in a new barn he is building. The other ordered Edmund Fowler not to raise any tobacco on Mr. Bronaugh's place. Both letters contained dire threats if the warnings were not obeyed. Fowler is a young railroad man who is out of employment and was preparing to raise a small crop with Mr. Bronaugh, who is an association member. The proposed increase of acreage is the only known reason for the visit. But few people knew that Fowler would raise the crop. The barn is a hay shed, and not investigation until morning, when the bundles were found leaning against the wall.

The cost of paint is small, it's the putting it on that counts. Use Green Seal and don't paint so often. Lander Bros., Newstead, Ky.

TUBERCULOSIS

Causes Death of Miss Cordelia Johnson.

Miss Cordelia Johnson died at the residence of Mr. James Willis, five miles east of the city, Friday, after a long illness, of consumption. She was 53 years old and a member of Little River Christian church. For several years Miss Johnson conducted a millinery establishment at Madisonville. About a year ago her health failed and she returned to Christian. She was a most excellent woman and leaves a host of friends. Funeral services were held Sunday morning by the Rev. Harding, pastor of Little River church, and the interment took place in Riverside cemetery at 10 o'clock.

FOUND NEW LAW.

Will be Invoked by Governor to Punish Night Riders.

Frankfort, Ky., April 20.—Gov. Wilson has addressed a letter to Adj. Gen. Johnston calling attention to a law passed several years ago under which the night riders may be apprehended and punished and property may be guarded against injury or destruction, the guards to be paid out of the county treasury. The act also provides that officials who fail to act when notified may be punished and that a witness cannot be exempt from testifying because his testimony may incriminate himself. It is believed the enforcement of this act will solve the night-rider troubles if they occur again in any part of the State.

In Pendleton.

George Harry, who resides six miles north of Falmouth was visited by night riders and informed that if he did not pool his crop, they would scrape his tobacco bed. Mr. Harry is an independent grower and intended to raise a crop, having sown his seed. Mr. Harry came to town to arrange for pooling his crop.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Some Professors and Interest is Deep and Increasing.

There were three regular services at the Baptist church Sunday, 11 a. m., 3:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The afternoon service was to men only and it was largely attended. At night the church would not hold the people. Every seat was taken, chairs were placed everywhere, the stand was filled with people, the Sunday school rooms, gallery and even the new Baraca Hall were all packed. Many stood up around the walls and in the doors and probably 100 people were sent away, being unable to get in.

Evangelist Neighbour preached on the Predigal Son, discussing in a new and unusual way the temptations that beset the young man who left his father's home. He said he was given his start down hill, in all probability, by first meeting Miss Theatre, who in turn introduced him to her friends Miss Wine Cup, Miss Play Cards and Miss Dance. The four together soon had him wrecked and ruined financially, morally and physically. His sermon abounded in illustration and made a deep impression. Four persons responded to his invitation to turn to a better life.

The Princess Virginia

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON.
Authors of "The Lightning Conductor," "Essays in Search of a Father," etc.

Copyright, 1907, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

Through the gate of dreams lies the fair land of romance into which you would travel, finding welcome relief from the daily grind. Now you are invited to accompany the Princess Virginia, who determines that the royal personage who would honor her with his hand must fall in love with her and woo her as any other man would a woman. Therefore she travels incognito in her realm, meeting adventures strange and full of excitement. You will learn with pardonable pride that the American blood in her veins gives her an independence unheard of in the presence of kings, but most of all you will want to know how she succeeds in her bold undertaking. That you will enjoy every minute of the reading is assured by the verdict of thousands who declare "The Princess Virginia" to be a most delightful story.

The prince was amused. "No; she wouldn't stick at a mother if she wanted one," he chuckled. "And, while she was about it, she has apparently annexed a whole family tree. The black mole and the scar dimple—you're sure of them, chancellor? Because, if you are—"

"Oh, I am practically certain!"

"Then the more pieces in the puzzle which I fit together the more likely does it seem that your Leopold's Miss Helen Mowbray and my Miss Jenny Brett are one and the same."

"Miss Jenny Brett?"

"Did you never hear the name?"

"If I have I've forgotten it."

"Chancellor, you wouldn't forget if you were a few years younger. Jenny Brett is the prettiest if not the most talented singer ever sent out from Australia, the fashionable home of singers. She is billed to sing at the Court theater of Kronburg in a fortnight, her first engagement in Rheint."

"You are right. It may well be that she's been having a game with us—a game that we can prevent now, thank heaven, from ending in earnest."

"Oh, yes; we can prevent that."

"Your royal highness met the lady in your own country?"

"No. It was in Paris at first, but I'm afraid I induced her to accept an engagement at home. We were great friends for awhile, and really she's a charming creature. I can't blame myself. Who would have guessed that she'd turn out so ambitious? By Jove, I can sympathize with Leopold. The girl tried to twist me round her finger and, I verily believe, fainted at one time that I would offer her marriage."

"It must be the same girl. And the emperor has offered her marriage."

"What? Impossible! But—with the left hand, of course, though even that would be unheard of for a man in his."

"I swear to your royal highness that if he isn't stopped he will force her on the Rheintia people as empress."

"And—little Jenny Brett? I didn't half appreciate her brilliant qualities."

"Yet I would wager that she appreciated yours."

The prince shrugged his shoulders. "I believe she really cared something for me—a month ago."

"Then she still cares. You are not a man whom a woman can forget, though she or another may lead her to try."

"I tell you frankly I believe that Providence sent your royal highness here at this moment, and my best hopes are now pinned on you. You and no one else as yet can save the emperor for a nobler fate. Even when I supposed you a stranger to this lady who calls herself Helen Mowbray I thought that if I could induce her to meet her and exercise your fascinations there might be hope of averting the danger from my master. Now I know everything. I beg, I treat, that your royal highness will send up your name and ask the lady to see you without delay. She will certainly receive you, and when the emperor learns that she has done so it may go far to dissuade him, for, pardon me, your royal highness has a great reputation as a lady killer. Still more valuable would be, however—indeed, he would be cured of his infatuation forever—if—

"If what?" inquired the young man, tired of the chancellor's long windiness and beating about the bush.

"If you could persuade her to go out to your hunting lodge. Then Leopold and Rheintia would be saved by you. What could be better? What could be more suitable?"

"What, indeed," echoed the prince, "for every one concerned except for Jenny Brett?"

"Considering the havoc she has worked among us all, need she be considered before the interests of a great country and, perhaps I may hint, an innocent and lovely royal lady whom this girl is doing her best to humiliate?"

"I'm hanged if she need be so considered! Anyhow I'll do what you ask. I'll send up my card, and then we'll see what happens."

The prince took from his pocket a small gold case sparkling with jewels, a trifle which advertised itself as the gift of a woman. Out of this came a card, with a crown over the name in the fashion of his country and some others. An equerry waiting in an adjoining room was summoned, the card given to him, passed on to a hotel servant, and then for five minutes, ten minutes, the old man and the young one waited, talking of a subject very near to both their hearts.

At last, when they had no more to say, word came that Lady Mowbray and Miss Mowbray would see his royal highness.

"The value of a well regulated mother!" laughed the young man, who had not troubled to inquire for Lady Mowbray. "Well, whatever comes of this interview, chancellor, I shall presently have something to tell you."

"The suspense will be hard to bear," said Count von Bretzelstein, "but I have perfect faith in you. We understand each other completely now, but I'm growing old, and the past few days have tired me sorely. Remember, I pray you, all that's at stake and do not hesitate for an instant. Have no false scruple with such a person as this. The emperor will soon arrive in Kronburg. He'll lose no time in trying to find the girl, and once they've met—" another meeting all our plans, all our precautions, may be in vain. He searches for her to offer his crown."

"I'll send up my card."

The prince listened and did not smile as he went out.

He had bidden the chancellor await his return in the salon of the royal suit, which was always kept at his disposal when he appeared in the neighborhood, as he often did since purchasing the hunting lodge a few miles out of Kronburg in the forest.

Other foreign royalties or lesser princes from the provinces occasionally occupied the apartments also, and this handsome royal highness of today was not the only one whom the chancellor of Rheintia had visited there. He knew by heart the rich purple hangings in the salon, with the double wolf head of Rheintia stamped in gold at regular intervals on the velvet, and he sickened of their splendor now as the moments dragged and he remained alone.

When half an hour had passed he could no longer sit still on the purple velvet sofa, but began walking up and down, his hands behind him, scowling at the full length oil painted portraits of Rheintia's dead rulers, glancing a question into his own eyes in the long, gold framed mirrors—a question he would have given his life to hear answered in the way he wished.

Three-quarters of an hour had gone at last, and still the chancellor paced the purple drawing room, and still the prince did not come back to tell the news.

Had the young man failed? Had that strenuous upstairs beguiled him, as he had beguiled one stronger and greater than he? Was it possible that he had lured the whole secret of their scheme from the prince and then induced him to leave the hotel while her arch enemy funned in the salon, awaiting his return?

But no; there were quick footsteps outside the door. The handle was turned. At least his royal highness was not a traitor.

As the chancellor had confessed, he was growing old. He felt suddenly very weak. His lips fell apart, trembling, yet he would not utter the words that hung upon these lips.

Fortunately the prince read the appeal in the glittering eyes and did not wait to be questioned.

"Well, I've seen the lady and had a talk with her," he said in a voice which was the old man felt, somehow different in tone from what it had been an hour ago.

"And is she the person you have

"Yes, she's a person I have known. It's—It's all right about that plan of yours, chancellor. She's going with me to the lodge."

"Heaven be praised! It seems almost too good to be true. When does she go?"

"At once—that is, as soon as she can get ready. She will dine with me, and my equerry will stop behind and eat the dinner I had ordered here."

"Magnificent! Then she will go with you alone? Nothing could be better. The presence of the alleged mother as chaperon would be a drawback."

"Oh, no chaperon is needed for us two. The—er—mother remains at the hotel with a la—a companion they have, who is ill. It was—er—somewhat difficult to arrange this matter, but I don't think the plot I have in mind now will fail, provided you carry through your part as smartly as I have carried mine."

"You may depend upon me. Your royal highness is marvelous. Am I to understand that the lady goes with you and not of her own free will?"

"Quite. I flatter myself that she's rather pleased with the invitation. In a few minutes I and the fair damsel will be spinning away for a drive in my red motor—you know, the one which I always leave at the lodge, to be ready for use whenever I choose to pay a flying visit. I shall keep her out there. It's dark to give you plenty of time, but before starting I'll telephone to my chef that, after all, I shan't be away and he must prepare dinner for two."

"It also will send a telephone message," said the chancellor.

"To Leopold?"

"Yes, your royal highness. This time but no; there will be no uncertainty in my words to him. They will strike home, and even if he should not be intending to come to Kronburg tonight they will bring him."

"You are sure you know where to catch the emperor?"

"He'll telephone me from Felsdorf."

"Yes, your royal highness. This time but no; there will be no uncertainty in my words to him. They will strike home, and even if he should not be intending to come to Kronburg tonight they will bring him."

IT SAVED MY LIFE...

WRITES ECZEMA PATIENT

Bed-ridden sufferer completely cured by use of D.D.D. External Wash.

One of the most remarkable Eczema cases recently credited to the well known D. D. D. Prescription was just recorded in Chicago.

Mrs. E. Hegg, 1550 West Madison street, under date of Dec. 9, 1907, writes as follows:

"I suffered three years with Weeping Eczema. It started with a little spot on my knees and spread fast over my whole body. I spent hundreds of dollars and went to every good doctor I heard of, but kept getting worse. Nothing would stop the awful itch and burning.

"I had to stay in bed from the middle of May to the middle of July. Then I tried D. D. D. Prescription. This is the 9th of December and I am entirely free from the terrible disease. D. D. D. saved my life.

When I began this treatment, people were afraid of me. I looked so terrible. My husband was the only one who would take care of me. D. D. D. stopped the itch at once so I could sleep, which I had not done before. Then I began to get better fast and now my skin is clear and white, not a spot anywhere."

Just a few drops of D. D. D. Prescription applied to the skin brings relief—nothing to swallow or drink. We vouch for D. D. D. Prescription, also the cleansing D. D. D. Soap, R. C. Hardwick, Hopkinsville, Ky. Get a bottle today if you have any skin disease. Begin your cure at once.

When he has found those he sought are not there, as he will, and I must be at my house to receive and answer his message. It will come in the night.

"Very well; all that seems to arrange itself satisfactorily," said the prince. "Our motor drive can be stretched out for an hour and a half. The lady with them need to dress. Dinner can be kept back till half past eight, if it would suit your book to break in upon it at the table. My dining room isn't very grand, but it has plenty of light and color and wouldn't make a bad background for the last act of this little drama. What do you say, chancellor? I've always thought the more successful as a stage manager of the theater of nations was partially due to your eye for dramatic effects."

"Such effects are not to be despised, considering the audience we cater for in that theater."

"Well, I promise you that for our little amateur play tonight in my private theater the footlights shall be lit, the stage set and two of the principal puppets dressed and painted for the eyes before 9. I suppose you can introduce the leading man by that time or a little later?"

The brilliant brows drew together involuntarily. Count von Breitenstein was working without scruple against the emperor for the emperor's good, yet he winced at his accomplice's light jest, and it was by an effort that he kept a note of disapproval out of his voice.

"Unless I much mistake, his majesty will order a special train as soon as he has had my message," said he. "That and everything else falling as I confidently expect, I shall be able to bring him out to your royal highness' hunting lodge a little after 9."

"You'll find out at the third course," prophesied the prince.

"Naturally the emperor's appearance will startle your party," went on the chancellor, keenly watching the young man's extraordinarily handsome face. "He would not dare take the risk and drive out with you, great as the temptation would no doubt be, did she dream that he would learn of the escape and follow. Indeed, your royal highness must have found his principal weapons ready to your hand that you so soon broke through the armor of her prudence. I expected much from your magnetism and resourceful wit, yet I hardly dared have hoped for such speed, such unqualified success as this which now seems assured to us."

"My weapons were sharpened on my past acquaintance with the pretty lady," explained the prince; "otherwise the result might have been postponed for as many days as I have delayed moments, though at last the end might have been the same."

"Not for Rhaetia. Every instant counts. Thanks to you, we shall win, for, actress as this girl is, she'll find it a task beyond her powers to justify a jealous man this evening's justice to you."

"She tests those powers in our presence, we can be audience and admirer of her histrionic talents," said the prince pleasantly, though with some faint, growing sign of constraint or perhaps impatience. "There's no doubt in my mind, whatever may be the lady's conception of her part, about the final tableau. And, after all, it's with that alone you concern yourself, eh, chancellor?"

"It's that alone," echoed the old man. "Then you would like to go and await the message. There's nothing more for us to arrange. An revoir, monseigneur, till 8."

"Till 8."

"When the curtain for the last act will ring up."

The prince held out his hand. Count von Breitenstein grasped it and then hurried to his electric carriage, which had been waiting outside the hotel. A few minutes later he was talking over the wire to the emperor in the railway station at Pölgard.

PATRIOTIC ESSAYS

Written by Pupils of Hopkinsville Public Schools.

Twenty-two essays have been written by pupils of the Hopkinsville Public Schools competing for a gold medal offered by the local chapter Daughter of American Revolution for the best patriotic essay on subjects submitted. Eight of the papers are on "The American Indians," eight on "The Foreign Volunteers of the Revolution" and six on "Heroes and Martyrs of the Revolution."

The essays are submitted by number and all are neatly and attractively gotten up, with uniform covers and nothing to indicate the writer. Some of them are typewritten. The papers will be submitted to a local committee who will cull them and select the most meritorious ones. These will, in turn, be passed upon by some leading educator to be selected by Superintendent Barsdale Hamlett. It is not yet known when the award will be made. Probably at the end of the school year.

International Harvester Co. Wants Fine Cut Down.

Topeka, Kans., April 16.—The International Harvester company of America has appealed to the supreme court of Kansas from the verdict rendered against it in the Shawnee county district court, and the assessment of a fine of $12,500 upon 48 counts upon a charge of making illegal sales of farming machinery under exclusive contracts.

Primarily, the company claims it should have been fined, if at all, upon only one count, instead of forty-eight.

Appetites of Woodsmen.

Here are some figures from a lumber camp up in Greenwood which give an idea as to the appetites of busy woodsmen. There are thirty-five men in this crew, and the cook reports that each man eats 200 large biscuits, 150 doughnuts, 80 pies, bakes 6 quarts of dry beans, with potatoes, vegetables, etc., in proportion. A large beef creature is eaten every five days. There is something to be said in that item of thirty-six pies daily for thirty-five men. Probably the boss gets the extra one.—Kennebec Journal.

NEW BAPTIST PAPER

To Be Started In Louisville May 1, Succeeding Baptist Argus.

A new Baptist publishing company has been organized in Louisville, which is to be called the Baptist World Publishing Company. The name of the new paper will be The Baptist World.

The names of the leading gentlemen who are interested in the new enterprise are as follows: Messrs. Theodore Harris, James Shuttleworth, George W. Norton, Junius Caldwell, A. Y. Ford, Caldwell Norton, James H. Chandler, Boyce Watkins, Judge T. O'Neal, W. P. Harvey, Hon. B. F. Proctor of Bowling Green, Mr. M. J. Farris, President of the Citizens' Bank, Danville, Ky.; Col. A. F. Fleet and many others.

There are at present several Baptist papers published in Kentucky. The Western Recorder is the oldest of these, and for a number of years had a strong circulation in the State of Kentucky. The Baptist Argus, which was established some years ago, has also become a strong paper, and has a very wide circulation throughout the North and South, and even among the Baptists on the other side of the world. The Baptist Flag, which is published in Fulton, Ky., which also has a wide circulation. It is not, of course, proposed to consolidate all of these papers into one. It is now practically settled that The Baptist Argus will be purchased by the new company.

The white Baptists of Kentucky number more than 200,000, and throughout the North and South they number from 5,000,000 to 7,000,000. This affords a great constituency for denominational papers, and the promoters of the new enterprise feel assured of success before hand.

After effecting the organization of the company the following Board of Directors was chosen: Theodore Harris, George Norton, Junius Caldwell, W. P. Harvey, J. N. Prestridge, J. H. Chandler, Boyce Watkins, Thomas A. Johnson and M. J. Farris, of Danville, Ky. Dr. W. P. Harvey was elected President and Manager, and Dr. J. N. Prestridge was made Vice President and Secretary.

The new company will begin business about May 1 in the Rosemore building, which has been leased for a term of years and which will be handsomely fitted up.—Herald.

MR. BRYAN'S OPINIONS

The plan of guaranteed bank deposits has probably found favor, among all classes of people and irrespective of political affiliation, more rapidly than any other public question.

The new state of Oklahoma has already enacted a law taxing state banks, the fund thus accumulated to be used in paying the depositors of any state bank that from any cause becomes unable to meet its obligations. A special session of the Kansas legislature has been called for the purpose of enacting legislation similar to the Oklahoma plan. The governor of Nebraska is considering the advisability of calling a special session of the legislature on account of the growing belief among the people that protection to bank depositors in the form of state or federal guarantees of their deposits will stop the hoarding of money, bring into circulation sufficient currency to conduct the business of the country, and prevent a recurrence of such disastrous panics as the one through which we are now passing.

Mr. Bryan has been an advocate of a law guaranteeing deposits in state and national banks since 1893.

Mr. Bryan, in discussing the tariff and stamps will be accepted. Only sixty cents. Address The Commoner, Lincoln, Neb.

to buy home-made goods at home at as low a price as the foreigner can buy American-made goods abroad. He also insists that our government should be by and for the people as a whole, rather than by and for the trusts, and administered in the interest of a few beneficiaries of the trust system. He believes that national legislation for the purpose of better regulation and control of interstate commerce and common carriers should supplement state legislation, and not be a substitute for state legislation.

Mr. Bryan's paper, The Commoner, reflects his opinions each week on questions of public importance and in its columns may also be found his magazine articles, public speeches, addresses and lectures, which are referred to in the daily press from day to day.

If you are interested in political questions, if you desire to keep in touch with the progress of the campaign and to read Mr. Bryan's campaign speeches send sixty cents to The Commoner, and the paper will be sent to you each week until the close of the next presidential campaign.

Postoffice money order, currency or stamps will be accepted. Only sixty cents. Address The Commoner, Lincoln, Neb.

GREEN HOUSE TO BE TAKEN IN

And Notorious Resort Suppressed by the City Authorities.

TO HONOR PIONEERS.

Old Cemetery to be Renovated and Turned Into a Monument Park.

At a meeting of the city council Friday night some important business was transacted.

An election was ordered for Saturday, May 2, to choose two trustees for the Hopkinsville public schools. Those whose terms expire are J. E. McPherson and J. T. Wall, both of whom have served for years and will be candidates to succeed themselves. The Mayor was authorized to appoint the officers.

The improvement of the old cemetery, in use by the city from 1810 to 1873, was authorized and a committee appointed, consisting of Mayor Meacham and Councilmen Galbreath and Randle. The committee has power to appoint an auxiliary committee of citizens, and will probably name a committee of ladies, representing descendants of pioneers buried in the cemetery. The general plan is to clear the grounds of briars and weeds and convert the two-acre lot into a neat little park with a monument in the center to the early settlers. It is proposed to let the shaft be surmounted by a bust of Bartholomew Wood, who donated the ground to the city of Hopkinsville about 115 years ago. Popular subscriptions will be asked and a series of entertainments may be given in the summer to raise the money.

A strip of territory on the east side of the city, containing the notable resort known as the "green house," was annexed to the city by ordinance, with a view to taking jurisdiction over the house and suppressing its unlawful business as was done with other similar houses north of the city two years ago.
